

Older Overnight

Intro = E(b)/ C (c) / egc# (c#) / A - D (a) / df#a# (a#) /bm (b) / df#c (c)

V1

E(b)

I believe in you

C (c)

you believe in me

egc# (c#)

A

all we couldn't see is what we saw

D (a)

we didn't stop believing

df#a# (a#)

that could never be

bm (b)

dfc (c)

only we don't see each other anymore

V2

E(b)

C (c)

egc# (c#)

A

it's hard at first love has its uses now you find you have to make your own excuses

D (a)

df#a# (a#)

it's early to bed no reason to rise

bm (b)

df#c (c)

looking out on a brand new world through the same old pair of eyes

you see that

D

Gm

it's not quite the same though nothing has changed

D

D

you say you're feeling colder overnight

D

Gm

it's not quite the same though nothing has changed

D

you say you're feeling older overnight

(run down) d c# a f# Gm A

you occupy your mind with other peoples' time it's a substitute for the force you used to occupy mine

you mind your own business it's strictly your affair

if you must come all alone at night because there's no one else there who cares

if it's not quite the same, though nothing has changed (etc.)

solo verse + 8

you say you love your neighbor though his life is in a mess

then admit that the only thing you share is the same address since i have not answered you have questioned your ideals please don't write to tell me that I know exactly how it feels

as though

it's not quite the same though nothing has changed

you find your feeling colder overnight

it's not quite the same though nothing has changed

you find your feeling older overnight - 5-8 Sept 1973 La Janica
